BEST PAINT OIL!

Save Haif the Amount of Your Oil Bill Through Saving in Pigment.

Every painter should use Lucol in-stead of Linseed Oil, because:

1. Lucot is more durable than Linseed 2. Lucon is more economical than Lin-PROOF THAT LUCOL IS MORE DURABLE.

Six years of actual use in exterior house painting in California (the most trying climate for paints), in the burning heat of the Arizona Desert, the Arctic cold of Alaska, and on the Atlantic coast, have fully and practically shown that Lucon always outwears Linseed Oil under the same conditions. All the acid works in San Francisco have discarded Linseed Oil for Lucot.

ILLUSTRATE THIS YOURSELF.

Put strong ammonia on Linseed and Lucol paints. The Linsced paints are destroyed in a few minutes; the Lucol paints are practically unaffect-

PROOF THAT LUCOL IS MORE ECONOMICAL.

Break up 17 lbs, paste white lead in one pint of Lucon, and the same quantity in one pint of Linseed Oil. Spread the paints on similar dark surfaces for comparison. The Lucol paint spreads as far as and covers much better than the Linseed paint. To get equally good covering with the Linseed paint you have to use 24 lbs. of white lead to one punt of Lauseed Oil. This means a saving of § 1b. of paste lead to each pint of Lucon used, or 6 lbs. to every gallon, equivalent to your saving more than helf the first cost of the Lucol..

Lucon is not in competition with cheap Linseed Oil substitutes.

CRUELTY TO A CHILD

Barbarous Treatment of a Bought Chinese Girl by Her Mistress.

A Chinese girl five or six years of age was brought before Marshal Hitchcock yesterday afternoon. The waif had been located by Detective Larsen in a native house, where she was being harbored by a native woman. The girl told a pitiful story of cruelty and suffering. She was brought from China when but a babe and was purchased by a Chinese woman in this city, who used nese woman in this city, who used her as a servant and maid of all work. She was cruelly treated by her foster mother, being beaten and nearly starved sometimes. For every little misconduct, and even without any fault, she would be beaten. She showed to the Marshal on her body avidance of the heaton her body evidence of the bestings she had received from the foster mother. After hearing the girl's story the Marshal advised the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of the Chinese woman for cruelty. The little girl was then taken to the home of the native woman, where she will be kept in the future. Before being taken there she was asked whether she would return to her foster mother. The girl replied that she would not live with her under any consideration. How to Turn Back the Clock.

"What time is it, Maggief" said John, with an uneasy seuse that he ought to be on his homeward way.
"I'll go and look," she answered. Stepping quietly into the kitchen the girl pushed the clock hands back an hour, and returning, said, "It's only half-past nine by our o'clock; you can stay an hour onger. So John stayed, for lovers are not eager to part, and he needed no coaxing. The next morning, however, he overslept himself, and Maggie's father, at his breakfast, having missed the train, he intended to journey by that day, wondered how the good old clock could have lost an hour in the night. But Maggie didn't explain. She meant to set it right again before going to bed, but forgot, which shows once more what everybody should remember that we can set back the clock, but we annot set back the time. All the same it is possible occa-sionally to regain lost things. In a woman's letter recently received, I find this sentence: "They tell me I took ten years younger than I did." And if she felt as she looked she was to all practical purposes ten years younger. For, although a clock face looks the same no matter what time it is, a human face doesn't.

That changes with the condition of the "works," or the life behind it. The letter goes on thus: "In the spring of of 1880 I felt weak and low. I had a bad taste in the mouth and a thick slimy phlegm covered my mouth and tongue. I was sick in a morning, retching and vomiting a watery fluid. I had great pain in the head and was very mazy, being at times so bad I could hardly stand upon my feet. After eating the sim-plest food I had dreadful pain in the left side and palpitation of the heart, and could get but little sleep at night on account of it.

"Gradually I grew weaker and weaker until I could scarcely walk about the house, and but for the necessity of attending to my family, I should have been laid up. My life was a burden and a misery to me, and I often wished myself dead. "Sometimes better and at other times worse; this was my general condition for ten years, during which long period of suffering I was treat-ed by the doctor, and took every kind of medicine I could hear tell of, but got no better.

"In November, 1890, I read in a book of a medicine called Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and got a bottle from Mr. E. Banks, the chemist. After I had taken a few doses I found my food agreed with me better. I kept on with the Syrup and gradually gained strength. had become so thin and emaciated through all those years of suffering that it took time to fully restore me But I am now in better health than I ever was in my life, and my recovery has astonished my friends. They tell me I look ten years younger than I did for taking the Syrup. How I wish I had known of it years sooner! My husband and friends had given up all hope of my getting better, but none of us knew of Mother Seigel's Syrup. "On mentioning to the Rev. E. Harries, the Vicar of Christ Church, what had wrought the cure, he said I should write and let the proprietors know what the Syrup had done for me, so as to benefit others. You may publish this statement as you think proper and I will gladly answer inquiries. Yours truly, (signed) (Mrs.) Elizabeth Greenhald, 21, Rutland street, Newtown, Pendle-bury (near Manchester), May 14, 1892.
